Dear Sydney Kim,

I am writing on behalf of the Department of History to congratulate you. The Undergraduate Committee met today and voted to award you Honors in History for your thesis on "The Transformations of Lewis Mumford: Prophecy, Utopia, and the Young Radicals of the 20th Century". This award will also confer the University Distinction in Research and Creative Works, which is granted at Commencement.

The award is conditional on final corrections to your thesis, which must include a reduction in length to 80 pages or less and the excision of repetition. The corrected thesis should be submitted on or before April 19, 2024.

You and your supporters are warmly invited to join us on Friday May 3 at 4pm in the Humanities Lobby and HUM 117 for the department prize-giving and commencement celebration, where Honors will be conferred.

Please accept my heartfelt congratulations on your outstanding achievements at Rice University.

Yours sincerely,

Aysha Pollnitz.
